

RONDOFILE - Unique Display Folders

RONDOFILE is an Australian owned company which started in late 2013 by two Sydney “music mums” whose children took music lessons, and participated in numerous music ensembles at school.

The rationale behind creating this unique folder is to make annotation on music quicker and easier for teachers, musicians and instrumentalists. As musicians, we all know how fiddly and time-consuming it is with the ordinary plastic pocket display folders whenever we want to annotate on the music sheet. Rondofile has solved this problem with its specially designed plastic sleeve which incorporates side tabs to fasten the paper down. This leaves the majority of the music sheet exposed as a workable area for direct annotations.

Hence the “1st Generation” - Rondofile 20 (black) and Rondofile 30 (silver) display folders were born,

“At last an excellent product that solves the problem .... no more wrestling with those plastic sleeves !”

“A really practical product for performers and for use in the music classroom - finally you can organise all your public domain music resources from the internet while still keeping them readily accessible for daily use.”

“ No more annoying reflections, no more glare from shiny plastic pockets.”

By July 2015, our “New Generation” Rondofile range was developed which introduced new folders - Rondofile Plus (larger than A4 sized-page) and Jot (10-page, blue and green).

In September 2016, the long-awaited Rondofile Binder Refills and Binder Pro were produced in the Rondofile Pro range of professional folders. Included in this range were new folders for band, orchestra and choir. Finally, these specialised folders were readily available to the Australian market - Performance Pro, Ensemble and Choir.

“ Thank you for letting me know .... I can assure you I show these to every musician and teacher I meet! I absolutely love these files! I use them for all my personal music performances and am so glad I have the budget now to start using them at school.”

“ Hi Guys, Let me preface this with saying that I really do love the Rondofile system and it has made a huge difference to, and impact on, my practice as a professional classical guitarist ”

“ Received my Performance Pro folder and A4 Rondofile display folder today. Thank you. These are great for what I need with my songwriting! ”
